

...IN THE SOCIAL REALM....

"To win a woman, man must flatter her; to win a man, woman must fool him."

"Woman pretends to be displeased when told she is a puzzle, although she knows it is true. Man loves to be assured that he is hard to read because he is so easily seen through."

"Some women powder and rouge themselves, but dust and blotchen others."

"When a man flatters himself that he knows a woman he flatters himself. A woman admires man for what she thinks he is; man admires woman for what he thinks she is. That is why admiration is usually misplaced."

"When a girl says emphatically that she won't, it is merely certain that she will, when she says she will—will she?"

"Woman gives the world variety; one sometimes wishes that for variety she would give it rest and a change."

"Fortune is capricious because feminine; for the same reason is easily bluffed."

"Women are blamed for many things which they don't do; but they console themselves with the reflection that they do many things which deserve blame, but which are never found out."

"What a woman doesn't know no man can tell her; but she can always tell him what he doesn't know—and often what she doesn't know."

"The foolish woman is known by her finery; the wise woman by her refinement. A woman can do more with a hairpin than a man with a box of tools."

"A woman comes to poor, benighted man as a blessing in disguise—often more disguise than blessing."—Lise de Vaux, Matthewman, Clara Victor Dwiglins, in "Brevities."

The Toast.

Drink to the bride's health: "Thou art sacred"

As this shining goblet's brim.

Kiss the brim, then spill, then break it;

Kiss with him this goblet's brim.

While he hears thy whispered kiss

Sounding down the vast forever:

"I am his forever his."

Spill the wine, and break, that never

After lips shall share the bliss.

Break, that never shall be split;

While he hears thy whispered kiss

Sounding down the vast forever:

"I am his forever his."

John P. Mettauer, A. M., M. D., LL.D., who was one of the most distinguished surgeons of this country, having an international reputation. Dr. Winfree has inherited a great deal of his grandfather's skill, and is one of Richmond's most talented and successful physicians. He is connected with the surgical department of the University College of Medicine, where he is held in the highest esteem by his colleagues.

The bride-elect is an unusually clever and magnetic woman, and is not only popular in her own city, but throughout the State of North Carolina. She has frequently visited in Richmond and has made many friends, who will be glad to welcome her in their midst.

Double Wedding at the Richmond

One of the most interesting wedding events of April will be the double celebration next Wednesday, April 20th, in the ball-room of the Richmond Hotel, when Miss Josephine and Miss Florence Cohen, the daughters of Mr. A. Cohen, of No. 4 West Clay Street, become the brides of Mr. W. Lee Joel and Mr. Ivan C. Mayer.

The Rev. Dr. E. N. Callach will perform the ceremony uniting the two couples. Floral decorations will be in pink and white, and this first nuptial occasion in Richmond's elegant new hotel will be witnessed by a large and handsomely attired company, who will lend brilliancy and distinction to the scene.

The brides will be exquisitely gowned in white Bruges lace over satin and chiffon. They will wear veils of tulle and carry white kid Bibles, married with sprays of lily of the valley.

Miss Stella Cohen and Miss Florence Mayer, the maids of honor, will have bouquets of white silk net over taffeta and bouquets of Golden Gate roses.

The flower girls, Misses Helen Bottigheimer, of Cincinnati, and Bernice Lehman, of Suffolk, Va., will be in white over pink and carry pink roses.

The groomsmen will be attended by Mr. E. Joel and Mr. Harold Bloomberg. A number of out-of-town guests will be in Richmond to attend the ceremony and reception.

Ante-Nuptial Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hatzler will receive Wednesday night, April 20th, from 8 to 11 o'clock, in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Rhonda, to Mr. Lee A. Whitlock, which will be celebrated in Temple Beth Ahava Thursday morning, April 21st, at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Edward N. Callach officiating.

House decorations at the reception will be in pink and white flowers. The bride's two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Kahn and Miss William Strauss, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, accompanied by their husbands, will be among the reception guests.

Miss Hatzler's maid of honor at her wedding will be Mrs. Strauss, and Mr. Whitlock's best man will be Mr. Walter M. Whitlock.

The list of groomsmen will include: Mr. Edward W. Lovenstein, Mr. Percy L. Ezekiel, Mr. Melvin L. Stern, Mr. Louis P. Leibermuth, Mr. Charles Hutzler, Mr. Sidney E. Gunst and Mr. E. D. Hutzler.

The bride's trip will be a delightful one to San Francisco, California. When Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock return they will be at home at No. 205 East Grace Street.

The wedding has aroused an unusual amount of interest, the publicity in it being among the most accomplished and popular of Richmond's Jewish residents.
